The basketball Yoemen made it a 22-6 season Tuesday night before a near fullhouse at Yoe Gym with a 46-43 win over Belton. Each additional win makes a school record.

What is telling about the team depth of this team is that three players who helped bring the Yoemen to an unchallenged AAA North Zone championship are not suited up in late season.

One is Jafus White, sophomore guard who suffered an ankle injury in the last game with Belton.

Cameron's club seems to surge in the second and third quarters and to hang on to a lead in fourth quarter, for example, the first going into overtime, which Cameron won 14-4 in Belton.

Cameron's depth in height tells late in a ballgame. Hardly a minute passes when about a 6-2 average is on the Yoe end of the court. With Bennett and Brooks both in and a 6-1 average at forward and guard spots, Cameron fields about a 6-4 average.

When outside shooting is on and the big men are rebounding and driving under, even a good AAA club has an awesome problem.

That fourth quarter has been a problem, the only loss in District coming in the fourth quarter when the Yoemen drew up on defense and Gatesville went ahead. The Yoe of course beat them second time.

As young as this team is, Cameron fans are already looking at the nucleus of a state championship club in AA which Cameron will be the next two years. In fact, this AAA season isn't over.

I watched a late-night "oatburner" one evening this week about the young gunslinger who challenges the pro, who happens to be sheriff.

Glen Ford, the amiable, but deadly lawman, likes the young challenger, the story goes, and tries every persuasion to avoid the "Last Challenge", which happens to be the name of the rerun.

Face to face, Ford tells his man, who seems like his younger self, what might happen in a showdown:

"If I have to shoot you, I can, and if I have to kill you, I will."

That's "heavy", man, as they say these days. And that's what Ford finally did, pressed to the test by the younger.

I couldn't help but identify with Ford's characterization of the fast-draw Southwesterner, a typical easy-on portrayal of a no-nonsense man.

This kind of business is passe, but "dang me" if this Yankee hasn't bitten the forensic bullet time after time to avoid some ego-centric showdown.

It's ideas and projects these days, and debate and argument, except for an inevitable character who's unsure of himself and makes points by the bluff.

This kind of guy is beaten before he can get his pickup in gear or an idea out of his jeans. Or his sports-car and his knitwear. Whatever Ford portrayed the cool-eyed gunman with the law on his side. And when he quit, he threw his gun and holster into the open grave of the last guy who tried him.

One's sense of justice is blind. One's heart is not.

Mayor Gene Blake formally announced his candidacy for a second term at the close of a council meeting Tuesday, and councilman Lester Turner, whose term expires in April, announced that he will not seek reelection.

Filing for the city election set for April are Lincoln Mondrik, filing for a second term as councilman, and Ernest Moore, as a first-time candidate.

The short agenda Tuesday evening included the re-appointment of three groups serving the city, including the equalization board, planning commission, and urban renewal board.

Agreeing to serve another term on the equalization board are Mrs. Leo Fuchs, Allen Dodson, and Emil Bis-kup.

Re-appointed to the city planning commission are James Camp, John Davis, Mrs. Lois Hill, Felipe Martinez, Ed Magre and Ed Laywell.

Appointed for a two-year term on the urban renewal board are Miss Mildred Thornton, Bill Burns, George Bowman, Albert Hajovsky, Porter Young, Monroe Fuchs and James Camp.

In other business, Mayor Blake explained to the council that the city is eligible for flood insurance, and following the adoption of a resolution calling for such, inspections will be made by the government to set up areas subject to flooding. Cameron residents will be able to carry flood insurance on their regular home insurance policies.

A. W. McCullin, UR executive director, reported on the selling of urban renewal bonds for completion of the downtown project, which has received an extension of time from HUD. He also reported on progress of paving downtown streets.

Councilman Lincoln Mondrik asked McCullin about the paving crews working on Sunday, when streets are traffic-free, and McCullin said cost in wages would be prohibitive.

In department head reports, City Water Supt. Alvin Hefft reported that he has received spare pumps for the river pumping station.

The city secretary was authorized to advertise for bids for a new air compressor for the city.

A representative of residents on 17th Street appeared before the council and reported that all but three residents had signed up for paving the street. Mayor Blake noted that the city needs 100 percent cooperation if possible, and also said there is a question about the width of the street.

Blake Files For 2nd Term

BOSS VISITS - Fred Bandas, of Bandas Industries, Inc. which is paving Cameron's streets, paid a flying visit to the city Tuesday morning to check on progress.

His helicopter landed on the cleared area across from the courthouse near the old McLane building.

Mr. DuBois was born in Whiteland. He had lived three years in Houston where he was in the real-estate business. He was a veteran of World War II and a member of the Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Alice DuBois; two daughters, Mrs. Dianne Miller of Houston and Mrs. Donna Johnson of Austin; two brothers, Samuel M. DuBois of Oceanside, Calif. and Allen C. DuBois of San Antonio; and two grandchildren.

Alcoa Income Up

Aluminum Company of America, which produces more metal in Texas than in any other state, reported net income of $104.2 million in 1973, compared with $102.8 million in 1972.

Alcoa, the world's largest aluminum producer, said income from operations was $99.6 million, up nearly 45 percent from $68.9 million in 1972. Net income per common share, adjusted to reflect a three-for-two stock split on December 31, was $3.09, up from $3.07 in 1972.

The company operates three plants in Texas, including its largest smelter at Rockdale. It is building a fourth plant -- a smelter -- near Palestine in Anderson County.

"Prices received for the products we shipped were only slightly ahead of the 1972 depressed prices," reported John D. Harper, Alcoa chairman and chief executive officer. "This was so even though growth in demand was extraordinarily strong.

"Cost of Living Council controls limited price recovery as did some long-term supply contracts made at depressed prices in 1972 which stretched through most of 1973."

Sales and operating revenues for the first time surpassed two billion dollars, totaling $2,157.3 million. Revenues in 1972 were $1,753.0 million, the previous high.

Shipments of aluminum products and production of primary metal also were at record levels. Shipments in 1973 were 2.03 million tons, up 23 percent from 1.65 million tons in 1972.

Production of primary aluminum totaled 1.62 million tons in 1973 and 1.39 million tons in 1972. To satisfy customer needs, Alcoa drew down inventories and purchased 218,000 tons of aluminum ingot from the U. S. Government stockpile.

In 1973, the company's equity in real estate operations resulted in a loss of $7.4 million ($23 loss per share), compared with earnings of $19.9 million ($61 per share) in 1972.

UR Bid Goes To Local Bank

At noon Tuesday bids were opened in the Urban Renewal office for Project Notes in the amount of $260,000, covering financing until June 21, 1974, extended from March 8, 1974.

Bids were received from four firms, including Bankers Trust Company of New York with a rate of 4.16 percent plus premium of $7; First National City Bank, New York, rate 4.13 percent; Citizens National Bank of Cameron, rate 4.11 plus $3 premium; and First National Bank in Dallas, rate 4.24 plus $2 premium.

The notes were awarded to the Citizens National Bank of Cameron, according to A. W. McCullin, UR executive director.

Mariner 10 Probes Two Planets

By Bruce Russell

CALIFORNIA Reuter -- The United States, having completed a spectacular outward-bound space exploration of the planet Jupiter in December, will this week begin an unprecedented inward probe of Venus and Mercury.

The tiny spacecraft Mariner 10, making a photo-snapping flypast over the cloud-enclosed surface of Venus on Tuesday, will fly closer to the sun than any manmade object.

Its pass 621 miles above the rocky arid surface of Mercury on March 29 is described by the jet propulsion laboratory here as "a first look at the planet."

Mercury is so small -- not much bigger than the earth's moon -- so distant, and at its closest passes to the earth, so blindingly silhouetted against the sun, that man has never been able to make out features on it.

The Mariner flypast, if it succeeds, will strip away one more space mystery. The photos it sends back will make Mercury's surface almost as familiar as that of the much closer Mars.

But National Aeronautics and Space Administration scientists are now worried that a series of problems on Mariner, starting almost from its launch last Nov. 3, could jeopardize or cut back the Mariner mission.

Soon after launch the heaters in the television cameras failed but heat was later restored just as mysteriously as it was cut off.

Then the spacecraft suddenly switched over from its primary power system to the back-up power. The alternative power system is just as good as the original but there is no way of switching back.

But the most serious problem developed on Jan. 28 when something went wrong with one of the three gyroscopes which keep the spacecraft on an even keel and before it could be turned off 20 per cent of the nitrogen gas used for midcourse corrections had leaked away.

Space scientists fear this problem could recur and limit the capability of the two crucial midcourse corrections between Venus and Mercury.

The spacecraft is due to send back about 8,000 pictures of the two planets.

Of Venus it will see not much more than a surface of glaring white, acid-laden clouds, perhaps getting pictures of elongated fast moving clouds which have intrigued astronomers. The cameras will also look for possible Venus moons.

Scientists say that as Venus has already been partially explored by Soviet and U. S. spacecraft, experiments at Venus may be cut if this is needed to save fuel for the Mercury flyby.

Mercury has little or no atmospheric cover and even its surface may have been stripped away by blasting convulsions of sunflames leaving it a rocky, scarred ball.

Off Dead Center...

Senate-House conferences Monday gave leadership out of the oil patch dilemma with approval of a price rollback of 29 per cent of domestic crude oil.

Action during an unprecedented public conferee hearing means the prospect of a 5-cent reduction in gasoline prices at the pump.

Crude oil that now sells for up to $10.25 will be pegged back at $5.25 a barrel and allowed to rise with normal demands to a ceiling of $7.09 a barrel. Rollback goes to May 15, 1973, price structure.

This action turns away from a proposal for excess profits tax, which would have meant higher prices in effect which would have been drained off into federal coffers. One mention was made of using such a fund for research and development of new energy sources. But it would have meant a public means to subsidize the oil industry.

This is an amendment to the emergency energy bill, which the White House has 30 days to act upon, exempting certain categories from the rollback if lower price reduces supply.

It is almost as significant to have such vital House-Senate conference issues heard in public as this break in the energy deadlock. In Texas as well as many states, if not most, the conference meeting is usually closed to the press and public while differences are worked out in legislation pending in both houses.

Senator Henry Jackson, chairman of the Senate interior committee, urged the committee vote, which went 12-4.

The issue is now off dead center, headed for House and Senate approval and to the White House. Energy director Simon says at this juncture that events may yet avoid rationing as mild weather and voluntary co-operation hold the line.

Something, of course, had to be done, as strikes, violence and shortages amidst rising petroleum prices showed the counter forces of inertia. Perhaps the oil industry now can get to the task of meeting demands without rationing. At a profit, of course.

Making Things Work...

It is seldom news when work continues uninterrupted, but the settlement of a new contract between Alcoa, other major aluminum manufacturers and the United Steelworkers is.

Announcement was made months ago that any differences remaining between negotiators of management and labor would be considered by the chief operating officers and the union officials face to face.

It apparently never came to that. But the example of leadership had considerable to do with the amicable tone of negotiations, as well as the fact that earlier contracts had been developed in similar smelting industry.

It is a triumph of judgment for a modern industry, one that is fortunate enough in Milam County to have abundant lignite sources and apparently enough natural gas to carry on the work that pays the wages, before and after this arbitration.

Leadership makes things work.

til the end of the Vietnam war tended to drive possible officer candidates away from training units. They also caused many university and college authorities to cower in their corners.

The University of California at Los Angeles for example was a main target of preparedness protesters in recent years. Late reports indicate a substantial gain in the number of freshmen enrolling in the ROTC units of the Army, Navy, and Air Force.

Boston University where students forced the closing of ROTC operations back in 1969 has asked for a resumption of military training activities. Harvard, it is reliably reported is considering the resumption of ROTC activities which it tossed out in 1969 at the crest of student attacks on the military. These signs of stiffen-ing of the nation's backbone help account for the lowered voices of those who would like to see amnesty given all draft evaders, regardless of the degree of their offense or whether or not they had sought refuge in foreign lands.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Not all draft evaders are conscientious objectors. Being fingerprinted was the last thing desired by those wanted for robbery, rape, murder, arson, violations of the narcotics law, violations of the immigration laws, counterfeiting, extortion, wife desertion, etc. The list is long. Each case should be reviewed by an Amnesty Board similar to the one appointed by President Harry S. Truman in 1946.

332 Proposals Submitted To Convention Committees

A total of 332 separate proposals have been submitted to the Constitutional Convention.

Last day for filing the recommendations for individual or wholesale revisions of the constitution brought the expected outpouring.

Each has been referred to an appropriate committee for study and processing before consideration on the convention floor.

Delegates who wish to submit proposals in the future must get permission of two-thirds of their colleagues.

Meanwhile, the convention has progressed through preliminary approval of the preamble and Bill of Rights — with no changes over the old constitution.

Next article to get floor consideration this week will be rights and suffrage.

At least two controversial items in that article are a provision allowing a property ownership requirement for voting in bond elections and denial of voting rights to felons.

Another recommendation of the rights and suffrage committee would provide a constitutional requirement for a secret ballot. There is now no such requirement in Texas although courts have held secrecy must be maintained.

TAX FORMULA APPROVED — The Legislative Property Tax Committee approved a modified version of the Texas Research League's proposal to gather data for a new school finance formula.

House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. had urged rejection of the plan, which El Paso Rep. Luther Jones charged was slanted in favor of big business.

Jones later asked Daniel to order an investigation of the Research League.

He objected to state reliance on the privately-financed League for assistance in tax studies. Seven such studies have been done by the organization since 1964.

ELECTION RULES CHANGED — As the Monday filing deadline for candidates neared, Secretary of State Mark White Jr. reminded of new election requirements.

He told candidates they must designate campaign managers before they accepted any political contributions or make any election expenditures, including filing fees.

Designations of the managers must be filed with the Secretary of State for candidates seeking offices involving more than one county. County clerks receive the designations for one-county positions or those within a county.

DREDGING POLICIES APPROVED — The Parks and Wildlife Commission under a new regulation can cancel licenses of shell dredgers who cause silting over live oyster reefs.

Another recently-approved policy to protect coastal and inland wetlands expands control over spoil dumping from dredging.

COURTS SPEAK — Attorney General John Hill sought a stay of a single-member district plan ordered by a three-judge federal court for seven Texas counties, pending appeal.

The court reversed an earlier decision to allow filing in the districts until February 18 and left the deadline at February 4. It also eliminated residency requirements in the districts for this year's election in Tarrant, Travis, Jefferson, McLennan, Nueces, El Paso and Lubbock counties.

The State Supreme Court held that, once a couple signs a sales contract on their home, they must go through with the deal.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Dolph Briscoe appointed Jerry Spencer Davis of Campbell as 196th district attorney in Hunt County.

Other recent Briscoe appointments include:

Dr. J. R. Maxfield Jr. of Dallas and Dr. Ben Dubilier of Austin to the Radiation Advisory Board; W. Clyde Freeman Jr. of Bryan to the Texas State Board of Public Accountancy; Mrs. Joe DeWitty of Dallas and Dr. Harry George Henricks of Beaumont to the Governor's Energy Advisory Council.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Some people, I gather from reading newspapers and talking with my neighbors, are either puzzled by the fuel shortage or baffled by it or hopping mad about it.

The way it looks to me, you can read plenty about it but you never know when you have the facts.

At any rate, it seems to be a fact that the big oil companies' profits last year were nearly 50 per cent above the previous year, and in that previous year they weren't exactly on relief. It's sort of like what the farmers, scratching their head, say about fertilizer: if fertilizer manufacturers made a profit last year when fertilizer was selling for $80 a ton, how much profit you reckon they're making now when it's selling for $160 a ton?

One interesting statistic about the oil companies is that while their sales last year were up only 6 per cent, their profit were up nearly 50 per cent, which is one of the things that seems to be making some people mad every time they pull into a filling station or pay their heating oil bill.

But if you think the general public is mad, think what the political fund raisers for the last Presidential campaign are feeling.

"Why, those chinchy oil companies," they're probably muttering, "here they hemmed and hawed when we asked them for a measly $100,000 apiece, when if we had known they were making that kind of money we'd have doubled their assessments. We ought to kick ourselves. We let em off with a total of five million dollars when it should have been ten. Just wait till the next campaign."

However, maybe the fund raisers ought to write down their instructions for others just in case they're not around for the next campaign. You know anybody who'd like to swap oil stock for a Johnson grass farm?

Yours faithfully
J.A.

Outsiders In Schoolyards

Eddie, a high school dropout, liked to hang around his old alma mater, getting into various kinds of mischief. One day he was picked up by police on a charge of "loitering on school grounds."

To Eddie, this was foul play. After all, wasn't the schoolyard a public place—free for all? But the court found him guilty as charged. As one judge put it: "Public school premises are not free to any and everyone, like a public street or public park. Public school premises are dedicated to the use of persons eligible to attend the schools, their officers, teachers, and employees."

A number of communities, leery of troublemakers, have passed special anti-loitering laws placing schoolyards off limits to those having no legitimate business there. And most courts have upheld the validity of these laws.

On the other hand, courts have also taken a tolerant view of what is "legitimate business." One case involved a 17-year-old boy, arrested after dark on the playground of a junior high school. At a court hearing, he explained that he had been waiting to take his younger sister home from a class party.

The judge decided this came under the heading of legitimate business, and tossed the case out of court.

Furthermore, an anti-loitering law must not exceed constitutional limits. In another case, an ordinance forbade loitering within 250 feet of any school—with no exceptions.

But this law, when challenged in court, was held to be unconstitutional. The court thought it was unfair to punish someone simply for relaxing in the vicinity of a school. Lawmakers had no authority, said the court, "to denounce mere inaction as a crime," adding:

"The majority of mankind spend a goodly part of their waking hours in idling the time away. The ordinance is an unreasonable restraint upon personal liberty."

If your home depends on natural gas you can depend on having enough.

Despite today's national gas shortage, homeowners in the Lone Star area can be assured of continuing supplies of efficient, clean-burning natural gas for years to come. The reason: Lone Star's advance planning and the investment of some $150 million in gas supply projects in the last two years.

Today Lone Star is working around the clock, drilling deeper wells and exploring new areas. We're participating with gas industry research on "synthetic" gas and other forms of energy.

Easing this country's energy crisis by increasing energy supplies is going to take cooperation between the government and the gas industry. And you can help also! By conserving energy in your home whenever you have the opportunity.

Rest assured that Lone Star Gas families who depend on natural gas can depend on having enough.

Agriculture Exports May Total $19 Billion For Year

It now appears that U.S. agricultural exports is the current fiscal year ending June 30 could total $19 billion, a new record and more than the total U. S. exports of all products just a few years ago.

This, members of the first annual Texas Animal Agricultural Conference learned here Wednesday, is the fifth straight increase from $5.7 billion in fiscal 1969.

The favorable agricultural export picture was described by Dr. John A. Hopkin of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station who said U. S. farm exports hit a record $12.9 billion in fiscal 1973 -- up 60 percent from 1972 -- up 60 percent from the previous year.

Hopkin, also Stiles Professor of Agricultural Finance and head of the Texas A&M University Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology Department, said the growing importance of farm exports is shown by a favorable balance of agricultural trade of about $10 billion. Of this amount, $9.2 billion represents a favorable balance in commercial agricultural trade, in contrast to government aid programs.

But Americans, he added, still import cars, radios,

TV sets and oil.

"As a consequence, we expect to continue an unfavorable trade balance of $7 billion in non-agricultural commodities. Yet, experts were projecting as late as mid-December a $3 billion credit in our foreign trade account -- due almost single-handedly to the outstanding performance of agriculture," Hopkin said.

The Animal Agriculture Conference attended by an estimated 1,500 persons, is a merger of the former annual beef cattle, dairy production, horse, swine and forage and pasture short courses. Principal sponsors are the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Hopkin listed five main reasons for U. S. increase in agricultural exports: Unfavorable weather in Russia, Australia, Latin America, Africa, China and Southwest Asia; low level of supplies from other exporting countries, seriously reduced fish meal output in Peru, continued rising incomes in friendly nations and several developing countries, and improved competitive position of U. S. products because of currency re-alignment.

Increased food and feed grains accounted for most of the high agricultural exports from 1972 to 1973, he said, while livestock and meat rose very little. The energy crisis is throwing things out of balance, and beef likely will be affected. Meat imports likely will decline in response to pressures on foreign exchange. This, in turn would lead to more use of beef substitutes.

SCS News

An estimated 10,000 acres of Milam County grassland has been -- or soon will be -- converted to cropland for the 1974 growing season, Wayne Mann, Soil Conservation Service District Conservationist, reported today.

Mann said about 80 percent of the acreage was converted this fall, with the remainder expected to undergo a land use change next spring. The new croplands will grow primarily cotton, milo and small grain.

Mann pointed out that while much of the new cropland is well suited to growing cash crops, some is on sloping land and is subject to soil erosion, and would be better kept under a cover of grass until protective soil conservation measures are applied.

"Our estimates show," he added, "that 6500 acres of Class III soils in Milam County are going back into crops. These soils have severe limitations as cropland and will require good conservation measures if erosion losses are to be kept at a reasonable level. Landowners should consider terraces, waterways and good conservation cropping systems in their conservation planning."

By 1975 another 6000 acres of land will be released from the CAP or soil bank program for crop production. As these land use changes are being made to increase total production, every effort should be made to protect the land for the future.

SWCD directors urge farmers changing land uses to contact SCS for on-the-spot help in ways to increase both crop production and soil and water protection. SCS offers technical assistance to land users through the local Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES--- Coyote Control Program Includes Milam County

By Bill McCutchen

I was notified February 1st by the Texas Agricultural Extension Services that Milam County is to be included in the experimental coyote control program.

Milam County was not initially included to be one of the trial counties but efforts by the County Commissioners Court, local farm organizations, and interested individuals get Milam County included as one of the 44 counties in the trial. Most of the counties included were sheep and goat counties West of Milam.

Sodium Cyanide will be used in the patented M-44 Spring Ejection Device in an experimental program. This program is designed to measure the usefulness of this tool as a method of reducing domestic livestock losses due to predation by coyotes. This program will also evaluate the effect of the method on non target species.

This program will be implemented by training farmers and ranchers in the use of this material, and only qualified applicators will be able to purchase this material.

An implementation proposal has been submitted to the EPA by the Texas Department of Agriculture. Target date for implementation was February 1, 1974.

I will put out further information on this program when it is received. Training sessions will be held as soon as clearance is received.

GRAIN SORGHUM MEETING

The Milam County Crops Committee and the Milam County Farm Bureau are co-sponsoring a Grain Sorghum Production Short Course, Thursday afternoon, February 14th at the Farm Bureau Office in Cameron.

The meeting will start at 1:30 p.m. and end about 4:30 with four specialists on the program. Ben Spears will speak on varieties and weed control; John Box will discuss fertilizing for maximum efficiency; Chip Lee will discuss disease resistance in sorghums and Dr. Charles Cole will discuss insect control practices.

All interested producers are encouraged to attend. The meeting was scheduled for an afternoon because of the in-depth training to be presented.

No Shortage Of Food, Fiber... Commercial Vegetables... Not As Much, But Still Sweet... More Lamb Chops On The Way.

The 1973 Texas crop summary shows that Texas agriculture producers did what they love to do the most-produce, produce, produce. Production in Texas during 1973 exceeded production levels of 1972 for most major crops. Substantial increases in production occurred for cotton, corn, wheat, grain sorghum, soybeans, hay, oats, barley, sugarcane and Irish potatoes. Only rice, flaxseed, peanuts, sugarbeets and sweet potatoes failed to reach 1972 production levels.

Record yields were recorded for cotton, corn, grain, sorghum, wheat, oats, hay, and Irish potatoes.

Cotton production in Texas during 1973 is now estimated by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service at 4,650,000 bales. This would be the largest upland cotton crop produced in Texas since 1961.

Yield is expected to average 429 pounds of lint per acre compared with 408 pounds in 1972. Harvested acres are set at 5,200,000 acres.

Production of American-Pima cotton in the state is expected to be lower in 1973 than in 1972, however. Production is set at 26,000 bales in 1973 compared with 31,400 bales in 1972.

Grain sorghum production in Texas during 1973 totaled almost 100,000,000 more bushels in 1973 than in 1972. Yield at 60 bushels per acre is also a record yield.

Corn production in Texas for 1973 is more than 20,000,000 bushels above 1972.

Yield averaged a record 95 bushels per acre. This is the largest corn crop in Texas since 1943.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - If I file my federal income tax return in January, will I get my refund any sooner?

A - Yes. If you file in January and there are no mistakes on your return that might delay processing, you should get your refund in four to five weeks. If you file later, it may take up to eight weeks.

Q - When does your employer have to give you your W-2 form?

A - Form W-2, which shows total wages paid and income and social security tax withheld during 1973, should be given to you by your employer on or before Jan. 31, 1974. However, many employers distribute W-2 forms to their employees well in advance of this deadline for the convenience of those employees who are expecting a refund and want to file early.

Q - How can I tell if I have to file a Federal income tax return?

A - The filing requirements for Federal income tax returns depends upon the taxpayer's income, age and marital status.

A single individual must file a return if he had $2,050 or more gross income for the year. If he was 65 or older at year end, the requirement is $2,800. Any individual who may be claimed as the dependent of another taxpayer must file a return if he had gross income of $750 or more and received any unearned income during the year.

In general, if you itemize, medical expenses are deductible to the extent they exceed three percent of your adjusted gross income. However, one half of the medical insurance premiums you paid in 1973 up to $150 is deductible without regard to the three percent limitation. The balance is deductible as a medical expense subject to the three percent limitation. Your expenditures for medicines and drugs may be included in medical expenses only to the extent they exceed one percent of your adjusted gross income.

Q - Can I call the IRS toll free for answers to my tax questions?

A - Yes. To call IRS toll free for answers to your Federal tax questions, use the numbers listed in your Form 1040 or Form 1040A instructions.

Q What are some of the typical records that a taxpayer might use in operating a small business?

A A typical recordkeeping system for a small business might include: a daily summary of cash receipts, a monthly income journal, a check disbursements journal, a business checkbook, a depreciation record, and an employee compensation record. For more details, see IRS Publication 583, "Recordkeeping for A Small Business." It's available free from your nearest IRS office.

"The Store That Cares Enough To Offer You The Very Best"

Exchanging 'I Do's' Brings Major Changes

Exchanging "I do's" brings young couples face-to-face with many changes.

This change in marital status also calls for different responsibilities and developmental tasks (growth needs), Jane Fleischer, specialist in family life education, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, noted.

"While the husband attempts new developmental tasks as a young adult male, his wife work out her growth responsibilities as a young adult female.

"Each learns what it is to be married -- and what's expected of them as a husband or wife.

"Both must learn what it means to be an adult -- with adult responsibilities -- at home and in the community," the specialist said.

"However, several factors influence the development of young marrieds.

"These include physiological maturation, with its adult drives for ongoing sexual fulfillment, and personal aspirations of each partner to establish their marriage according to dreams built through the years."

Although developmental tasks of married couples are basic to establishing a family, they differ somewhat in each family, class and culture, Miss Fleischer said. "Nevertheless, general aspects include:

- establishing a home base to call their own
- establishing a satisfactory system for earning and spending money.

- setting acceptable patterns of who does what and who's accountable to whom
- mutually satisfying sex relationships
- developing systems of intellectual and emotional communications

- workable relationships with relatives.

- establishing interactions with friends, associates and community organizations

- facing possibilities of children, planning for them, and

- establishing a workable philosophy of life as a couple."

However, difficulties sometimes arise -- largely due to the task complexity and origin, the specialist continued.

For example, what the couple desires and what their culture expects don't always coincide.

"Also, often the reality of a situation conflicts with the couple's dreams. When a couple builds up extravagant ideas of what they want, they may be disappointed if something turns out less than expected.

"In addition, the dreams of a husband and wife may mesh in many respects, but be miles apart in others," the specialist concluded.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

If you're one of the many Americans who have a weight problem, you've probably often wished for a quick, easy way to overcome it.

Remember that your doctor is the best source of information about how to lose weight or inches. He most likely will tell you that proper diet and a program of exercise tailored to your individual needs are the only effective ways to deal with the problem.

Many legitimate health-salons are athletic clubs offer facilities designed to make exercise more inviting. These establishments do not claim to work miracles with special treatments or machines, although they may offer them to customers who request them.

There are some establishments, however, which tout such "passive" processes or devices as the ultimate answer to weight control. This is an appealing prospect to many overweight persons.

Attorneys in my Consumer Protection Division investigated numerous complaints about such businesses and their claims in a special court of inquiry held in Dallas recently at my request.

If you're considering using such methods or machines, you can avoid disappointments and possible health hazards if you know how they work. Then you and your doctor can judge whether they would be of any use to you in your weight control program.

Of the number of passive exercise machines, the hip, stomach, or thigh roller is probably the best known and most widely used. This machine has a series of revolving rollers that supposedly "roll" the pounds away.

While they are said to help break up concentrations of fatty tissue and make it easier for the body to utilize it or carry it away, they must be used in conjunction with exercise or a diet for maximum effectiveness. Physicians testified to cases of results of dangerously excess fatty tissue in some persons' blood streams.

Vibrating belts and tables are also often used by some dieters. These reportedly produce a sensation of exercise but do very little toward taking off pounds or inches.

Several years ago, certain types of machines that used electrical impulses to trigger muscular response were quite popular. However, some of them were found to have possible dangers for persons with heart and circulatory problems and most health spas have discontinued their use.

Cen-Tex Council Broadens

The Executive Committee of the Central Texas Council of Governments moved for additional representation on the local level and further involvement in mobile home studies in the seven county area.

A resolution was adopted that will provide for establishment of broad based county committees in each county to act in an advisory capacity to the COG Executive Committee, the COG staff, and other technical committees.

Judge Harris urged adoption of a resolution, which passed, to continue involvement in a mobile homes study. Studies will include the impact on the community and development of a profile of the area mobile home owner. Studies will be done in cooperation with the Department of Community Affairs and Texas A&M University.

A resolution was passed authorizing the CTCOG to pursue $65,000 for planning assistance through the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and a proposed system of alternate representation to the Executive Committee was tabled pending further study by the COG staff.

4-H Center Planned

The construction contract for the $1.375 million Texas 4-H Center has been signed, according to H. T. Davison, 4-H and youth specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and executive director for the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation.

"The 4-H Center is to be built on a 78-acre Lake Brownwood site near Brownwood. It will have a capacity of 200 people and will add many new dimensions to the overall Texas 4-H Program," Davison said.

The site for the Center was donated by the Brown County Water Improvement District Number 1.

Programs to be featured at the Center will include summer youth camps, leadership training, citizenship seminars, adult leader training, county and 4-H club camps, and family weekend retreats.

Man or Statue?

Today we see Lincoln in heroic size. He appears almost more of a statue than a man—a great figure cast in bronze, with a furrowed brow and solemn countenance.

Yet Lincoln was a man. He walked the earth, and felt love and joy, but he knew tremendous frustration and almost insurmountable sorrow. He prayed, earnestly and effectively.

Throughout each crisis in his life, and there were many, he was sustained by faith. God seemed close to him, and he turned to Him often. He didn't pause to think about whether he'd go to church or not. He went.

Do you?

Fatalities Drop 30 Percent

Traffic fatalities in the Central Texas area dropped 30% in 1973 said the Central Texas Alcohol Safety Action Project.

ASAP reported on their 1973 efforts to reduce traffic fatalities and identify successful countermeasures to the Executive Committee of the Central Texas Council of Governments January 17.

"ASAP feels that a reduction of this size represents a very good year for Central Texas and ASAP, and indicates extreme cooperation on the part of our citizens," said ASAP Project Director William J. McCaffrey.

There were 61 traffic deaths in 1973, compared to 87 for 1972, according to the ASAP report and preliminary data from the Department of Public Safety.

All counties but one in the seven county area served by the project experienced fewer or no increase in the number of fatalities. San Saba, which had no highway deaths recorded in 1972, had 2 fatalities in 1973. Mills, with 3, and Lampasas, with 7, had the same for both years. Bell, Coryell, Hamilton, and Milam Counties all had a reduction in fatalities.

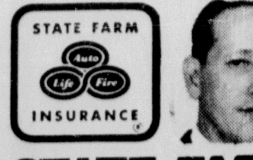

A review of ASAP activities during 1973 shows significant progress, especially in identifying countermeasures which are successful in coping with the drinking/driving problem.

Eagles Lose To Holland, 70-68

Milano has lost many games this season by one or two points. Last Friday night it happened again as the Holland Hornets pulled a close 70-68 victory out.

Holland jumped off to a quick 22-11 lead at the end of the first quarter, but Milano slowed the pace down in the second and came out downed 38-36 at halftime.

The Eagles continued their effort throughout the third quarter, and led 53-52 going into the last period of play. Milano lost it as Holland outscored them 18-15.

Bruce Williams was the high pointer for Milano with 28 points, David Wilson scored 20, Jimmy Mills had 18, and Joey Willingham 2. Greg Goodnight was the high point for Holland with 26.

In earlier action during the week, Milano was defeated by Troy, 85-69.

The Eagles manage to stay close to the Trojans until the third quarter. At this time Troy widened their lead to 59-47, and continued their effort during the fourth quarter to capture the victory.

Bruce Williams was the high point man for Milano with 28, Mills had 16, Wilson 15, Pack 4, Willingham 4, and Gunnels 2. Donnie Prince led Troy with 37.

Girls Action

The Milano girls also saw action against similar opponents last week. They defeated Holland, 49-38, and lost to Troy, 46-34.

In the Holland game, Milano came from a 14-10 first quarter slashing to take the victory. The Milano girls then outscored Holland 15-8 in the second quarter, 13-11 in the third and 11-5 in the fourth.

Vanessa Davidson was the high pointer with 18, Cheryl Kornegay had 15, Kathy Davenport 12, and J. Knight 4.

In action against Troy, Davidson was again the high pointer with 15, Davenport tossed in 7, Kornegay had 6, and Knight 4.

Junior High

Both Milano Junior High basketball teams saw action against Buckholts last Thursday night, and both came out with victories.

The boys pulled a 39-24 victory out, and the girls won 21-18.

In the boys game, Milano led throughout the game. The score was 15-6 at the end of the first quarter, 25-14 at the end of the second, and 31-20 at the end of the third.

Greg Nelson was the high pointer for Milano with 19, and Gary Kornegay and Kenney Myers scored 10 each. In the girls game Milano captured the victory in the fourth quarter as they outscored Buckholts 5-2.

Bert Mills was the high pointer for Milano with 13, and Vickie Melton had 4.

The next action for both teams will be on Jan. 4 against Academy, in Milano at 6 p.m. Then they will play Holland on the 7th. Again it will be in Milano and the game will begin at 6 p.m.

DILLARD'S TIPS
On Hunting

When hunting rabbits, elaborate traps and screens are entirely unnecessary. All the astute hunter really need do is conceal himself in the underbrush near to where his quarry is known to reside--and imitate a carrot!

Sports -Murray-Go-Round

By Tom Murray

Folks who know such say Darrell Royal may be working on his biggest recruiting strike since the celebrated "Worster (Steve, Bridge City Fullback) Bunch of 1967". Two of Royal's prizes are reputed to be Tyler's Earl Campbell, the state's most celebrated ball-carrier, and Jim Yarbrough, Galveston Ball Super Lineback. Some call that pair the best offensively and defensively in the state.

One recruiter sez some of the state's better football recruits are shunning Aggie-land because Emory Bellard has stacked blue chip material so deeply there the past two years. Tech's Jim Carlen and the folks at Lubbock have done a remarkable selling job this go-round. They've gone in for the big fanfare, making the recruits feel they are visiting dignitaries in the Pearl City of West, Texas.

Carlen is a good recruiter, as his once-beaten Red Raider crowd of 1973 attest. But, perhaps his ultimate triumph was in signing QB Joe Barnest out of Big Lake back there in 1970. You see, quarterbacks are a picky group. They do not like to go where other big name men-under are headed. Carlen had already signed Brownwood's Jimmy Carmichael, a can't miss quarterback who'd been chosen Texas's Most Outstanding Schoolboy performer. Well, Barnes had just about made up his mind to join Darrell Royal at UT when Carlen talked him into coming to Tech. Barnes became the best quarterback in the SWC and Carmichael rode the bench.

Former Rice Guard Alvin Early, one of Al Conover's top recruiters, makes the flat statement: "Rice is doing great. In fact, we will wind up with just as good a recruiting haul as Texas."

For awhile it appeared Tech had lured Spring Branch Center Jim Wyman, brother of All-American Center Bill Wyman, away from Texas. Late reports have young Wyman on his way to Austin, however.

Woods To Play Pro Ball For Eagles

Robert Woods, 250-pound star middle linebacker for the Howard Payne football team, has been drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football league.

The Eagles made Woods, twice an all-Lone Star Conference first defensive team pick, a No. 11 choice in the eighth round of the NFL player draft.

Four times in his four-year career at HPC, Woods was named to college All-America teams.

Woods came to HPC from Rogers, Tex., four seasons ago. He began his grid career at the school under the head Coaching of James Cameron, now head coach of the Angelo State Rams.

Woods began playing for current Yellow Jacket head mentor Dean Slayton after Cameron resigned to take the Angelo job.

In 1973, the Jackets finished with an 8-3 mark (counting a forfeit to Texas Lutheran) and in second place behind national champion (NAIA) Abilene Christian in the LSC.

"Woods is one of the most coachable young men I've ever been around," says Slayton. "You might say he was one of the prime reasons why HPC was able to put together three straight winning seasons."

Woods is expected to be tried as either a linebacker or offensive lineman with the Eagles. He is a 6-3 senior who is majoring in physical education and minoring in history at Howard Payne. He is the son of Mrs. Mary Woods of Rogers.

Yoe De-Claw Tigers

The Cameron Yoemen finished regular season play Tuesday night with a 46-43 victory over the Belton Tigers here at Yoe Gym. The victory moved the Yoemen to 7-1 in zone play and 22-6 in season play.

The Yoemen led at the end of every quarter. The score was 16-11 at the end of the first, 27-26 at halftime, and 39-32 at the end of the third.

The Yoemen seemed to be in trouble once in the first half and once in the second. Trouble in the first half began as Belton pulled to a 21-18 lead late in the second period. However, a technical foul on the Tigers sent John Barron to the free throw line. Barron hit all three charity shots and eased the pressure with a 21-21 tie.

The second problem started at the beginning of the fourth quarter of play. Belton was downed by 7 points, and began playing catch-up ball. Belton pulled within 2 points of the Yoemen in closing seconds of play, but Cameron managed to hold the Tiger bid off to capture the victory.

John Barron was the high pointer for the Yoemen with 15 points, Bennett tossed in 10, Daniels had 10, Brooks 6, and Hornung 5.

Russell and Sweeney led the Tigers in their losing effort with 10 points each.

For the past summers, the Lions have served 261 boys and girls, ages 6 through 16, at Texas Lions Camp for Diabetic Children, Friendswood, Texas.

ANOTHER GREAT VARIETY FROM ROGERS DELINTED COTTONSEED

Texas cotton growers from the Valley to the high plains are reporting favorably their results of planting the new QUAPAW Cotton from Rogers Delinted. Such comments as, "... the cotton strips and gins good and I am increasing my planting next year." QUAPAW cotton has a

The airman, who was trained in the operation and maintenance of punched card accounting machines, wiring of control panels and in production control duties, is being assigned to Keesler AFB, Miss., for duty with a unit of the ATC.

Airman Pratt, a 1969 graduate of C. H. Yoe High School, attended Howard Payne College in Brownwood and Baylor University.

Scott-White Joins With Baylor College Of Medicine

The Scott and White Clinic; Scott and White Memorial Hospital and Scott, Sherwood and Brindley Foundation of Temple have formally affiliated with Baylor College of Medicine to strengthen medical care, training and research in Texas.

The affiliation was jointly announced recently by Dr. E. O. Bradfield, Scott and White Clinic president; Dr. Richard D. Haines, Scott and White Memorial Hospital and Scott, Sherwood and Brindley Foundation president; and Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, Baylor president.

The agreement provides for mutual cooperation for the public benefit through the advancement of medical services, medical investigation, and expanded training of medical and ancillary personnel.

"Since the Scott and White complex and Baylor have many common objectives, we recognize this affiliation as an opportunity to strengthen health care in Texas without unnecessary duplication of facilities, programs and personnel," Dr. Bradfield said. "This exciting partnership will enable us to improve in-patient medical care by expanding our role as a teaching hospital in the advancement of medical education," Dr. Haines added.

"The availability of the outstanding resources and personnel of the Scott and White Clinic and Hospital will strengthen our educational programs enormously," Dr. DeBakey said. "This affiliation will allow us to reach beyond the Texas Medical Center in acquainting our students and physicians with the challenges and realities of medicine throughout the state."

Scott and White and Baylor officials have appointed a joint Policy and Planning Committee to coordinate common programs including medical education, recruitment of faculty and staff and medical research. Dr. G. V. Brindley, and Dr. John Bonnet, will represent the Scott and White group. Dr. Hebbel E. Hoff, associate dean for faculty and clinical affairs and professor and chairman of the department of physiology, and Dr. Henry D. McIntosh, chairman of the department of medicine, will represent Baylor.

The Scott and White complex, which was established in 1897, consists of an association of 120 full-time physicians and surgeons and a 315 bed hospital. The facility is annually responsible for 207,000 out-patient visits and 88,500 in-patient days. It presently has under construction a $10 million addition to its hospital facility.

Scott and White is associated with the Santa Fe Memorial Hospital, Temple Veterans Administration Hospital, the Bell County Rehabilitation Center, the Bell County Mental Health and Retardation Center, Baylor University in Waco, and University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston.

Baylor College of Medicine is the only private medical school in Texas. It was founded in 1900 and separated from Baylor University in 1969 to become an independent, non-sectarian institution.

The College is affiliated with eight hospitals and a number of leading universities including Rice University, the University of Houston and Texas A&M University.

The Baylor faculty is composed of 693 full-time physicians and scientists and 1,051 clinical members supported by a staff of 1,436 personnel. The college has an enrollment of 550 medical students, 1,245 allied health students, 100 graduate students and 524 interns and residents.

Firestone Steel Radial 500 tires are guaranteed to give you 10,000 miles of treadwear in normal passenger use on the same car. If they don't take your guarantee to any Firestone Store or participating dealer, He'll replace the tire with a new one and give you credit for the mileage not covered based on the then current adjustment price (approximate national average selling price) plus Federal excise tax. A small service charge may be added.

HOW MUCH FOOD?

How much food did you buy, pay for, carry home, cook and serve last year? Is shopping and budgeting for food "big business" or "penny ante?" Let's see. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says we purchased the retail weight equivalent of 1,450 pounds of food per person last year. An average family of four would have used 5,800 pounds of food. That is almost three tons! Isn't it worthwhile, then, for you to take time to be a better shopper?

The "tricks of the trade" in food shopping have been stated before, but let's review some of them. Plan ahead and check your own supplies before you go to the store. Compare the advertised specials. Use a shopping list. Shop alone and when you are not hungry. Be flexible. Too, look around for unadvertised specials.

Watch for the seasonal foods in fresh meats and produce. Learn to use the less popular meats. Remember that smaller sized fruits and vegetables, and those with minor surface blemishes and/or color variations, may offer savings. Buy the quality and grade which fits the intended use.

Read the labels on canned and processed foods. They are your window to the contents. Compare prices per ounce between nationally advertised brands and the store or private label brands of similar quality. Learn to recognize the quality store brands. Our store manager will be glad to help you.

Get smart! Learn as much about food and food buying as you can. Be careful! Don't poke, pinch or nibble the fresh fruits and vegetables. Don't litter! If you change your mind, return the item to its proper place. Follow through! Take the food home promptly and store it properly to maintain the good quality you paid for.

Speak up! Ask for information from the store manager or from me. We need to know how to serve you, or what was wrong with the item, so we can correct it. Be realistic! Recognize the difference between foods and non-foods when you total up your bill. It is a staggering amount of food.

For more information, ask for the "How To Buy Food" booklet.
